

Frost protection: Tanks and pipes

Frost protection of water tanks and pipes can be made in many different ways. Cato-Tech A/S offers a large range silicon heaters to be mounted on the surface of the water tank you need to protect. Pipes can also be heated with silicon heating elements or with heat cables. All heating cables and silicon heaters can be made for you specific application in any length and with any type of connection cable.