

Valve heaters

Cato-Tech A/S offers a wide range of solutions to a common problem of frozen valves. The heaters by Cato Tech A/S will eliminate this problem and will allow these valves to operate without interruption even at very low temperatures. The heaters can be manually turned on and off, or have a built-in thermostat that will automatically turn the heater on when the surrounding temperature drops below 2° C. This will ensure a high degree of safety when the temperature level drops in a short period of time.